Neighborhood

Description: Pixvae is a small, remote fishing village on Panama's Pacific coast in Veraguas Province. As of 2023, it had a population of 673 residents. The village is renowned for its serene environment and welcoming community. Pixvae serves as the closest mainland access point to Coiba National Park, a UNESCO World Heritage Site celebrated for its rich marine biodiversity. The surrounding landscapes feature tropical rainforests, rivers, and mountains, offering opportunities for hiking, bird watching, kayaking, and exploring local waterfalls. The village maintains a traditional lifestyle, with no phone signal or electricity as of 2021; homes rely on solar panels, generators, or candles. Pixvae's name also refers to the Peach Palm tree, a typical Panamanian fruit that grows in large bunches on a palm tree.
